

A Mapping Framework of the Policy and Legislative Context for Community-Led Organisations in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland

Common Health Assets Policy Analysis Group

Introduction

To support the rationale, understanding and positioning of the Policy Analysis component of Common Health Assets (CHA) research project¹, a framework of existing policy and strategy across the UK nations of England, Scotland and Northern Ireland, across a number of social policy areas related to the social determinants of health was compiled. Due to the locality-focused and community-based nature of the research project, local policy for the areas of London and Bournemouth, Glasgow and Lanarkshire, and Belfast, Derry and Fermanagh, respectively was also collated.

The purpose of the framework was to bring together recent, relevant and related policy and strategy documents into a central resource across a number of the social determinants which impact on health and wellbeing. Furthermore, the framework enabled the CHA Policy Analysis research team to gain a picture of the policy landscape across the UK nations and local regions, to identify differences in policy availability and focus, and to provide accessible contextual information to help assess the impact of policy on the activities and roles of community-led organisations.

Relevant policy and strategies were identified and combined in this resource by CHA team members working in the respective UK nations. The framework was compiled during 2023. It presents a table of policy documents split by country, and then by national and local level policy. Three fields are detailed for each policy document: 1. Field/domain e.g., public health, community, economic; Title for the policy document; and Reference/link to the document. The framework was reviewed internally for gaps and accuracy by members of the CHA Policy Analysis team prior to publication.

We however recognise that policy is fluid in nature and is continually evolving. This framework presents the available policy and strategy at a particular point in time. We also recognise the challenges in achieving comprehensiveness, and that the policy that influences the work of community-led organisations can be very local and informal in nature and often changes more quickly.
